OUR COVER

Holiday fun, splashing through the surf that is what most holidaymakers should have been enjoying, but our weather didn't seem to want to turn to summer. We did get a fine enough day to take this picture of Janine Lamplough and Judy Morgan in high spirits in the surf.

BACK COVER.

Top: Port scene and the Harbour Board's Pilot boat, turns the Golden Bay in between the wharves prior to sailing.

FLORAL DESIGNER

MARRIED

FREAK LILY

Below: Outsize in lilies. This freak was grown by Mrs R. Hall, and is shown here by her daughter Lynne. The stem has well over 100 blooms on it. Must be one of nature's bouquets.

STOCK CARS TEST MATCH

A crowd of several thousands watched the recent test match between Taranaki and Palmerston North stock car clubs. It was a meeting of thrills and crashes, with some good driving witnessed. Top: R. McSeveney passes round the outside as B. Barron is about to roll over after a collision with B. Love on the southern corner. Above: The smaller Rock and Rollers provide fun for all, as they roll their cars. Here some spilled petrol burns on the edge of the track after one had rolled. Below, left: Alan Jago had a tangle with a couple of the drums around the track, and finished up balancing on one of them. Below, right: This rock and roller looks as though it is only fit for the scrap heap, so many rolls did it do.

Wedding Bells

Left: JULIAN--SUTHERLAND. At the Whiteley Methodist Church, NP, Gaye, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs D.V. Sutherland, NP, to David, the younger son of Mr Julian and Mrs H. Morwood, NP. The bridesmaids were Janis Sutherland, sister of the bride, and Jill Morwood, sister of the groom, NP. The best man was Robert Julian, brother of the groom, NP. Future home, New Plymouth.

Right: McDOWELL--JORDAN. At St. Margaret's Church, NP, Lynette Rubie, second daughter of Mr and Mrs A.A. Jordan, NP, to Graeme Kenneth, eldest son of Mr and Mrs L. McDowell, NP. Best man was Kevin Temperton, brother of the groom, Wellington, and the groomsmen were Ian Dingle, brother of the bride, Tarata, and Peter McLauchlan, Auckland. Flower-girl was Kim Watson, Hamilton. Future home, Wellington.

MISS BROOKLANDS CONTESTANTS

On this and the following page are the girls who entered for the 1967 Miss Brooklands contest. It was a particularly hard year for the judges, as this year's entries were about the best we have seen since the contest has been running. Above, from left: Pamela Leach, Sharon Williams and Sue Olsen. Below, from left, Pauline Winstanley, June Goodwin and Veronica Green. Bottom, from left: Kerin Phipps, Justine Ovenden and Judith Morgan.

MISS TARANAKI SHOW A SMASHER

Despite some very disappointing houses, the Miss Taranaki show featuring some of the tops in show biz in NZ, was one of the best we have seen for many years. Even on the final night at Hawera, the house wasn't quite full. Why, we would like to know did the Bowl Trust transfer their Family Show to the same night as this show hit NP? The consequence was that both shows suffered from small attendances. Above: Howard Morrison and Paul Walden relax on stage before the Miss Taranaki announcement. Below: Stars of the show: Paul Walden and Jeannie Hartley, a singer with a great future. Above, right: Miss NZ 1966, Heather Gettings, made the presentations to Jill Edwards, Patea, winner of the title. Below, right: Howard does a bit of back-stage clowning with Jeannie Hartley.

Wedding Bells

Left: MACDONALD--PENWARDEN. At St. Mary's Anglican Church, Hawera, Dianne, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs D.W. Penwarden, Normanby, to Nigel, only son of Mr and Mrs E.O. Macdonald, Okaiawa. The bridesmaid was Valma Penwarden, sister of the bride, Normanby, and the best man was Peter Sirett, Hawera. The page-boy was Carl Penwarden, Hamilton. Future home, Okaiawa. (DAVID PAUL).

Right: HONEYFIELD--POOL. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Janine, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs A.M. Pool, NP, to Rex, youngest son of Mr and Mrs C.R. Honeyfield, Tikorangi. The bridesmaids were Diane Pool, sister of the bride, NP, Paula Stead, Waitara, and Maureen Honeyfield, sister of the groom, Tikorangi. The best man was Robert Hoyle, Tikorangi, and the groomsmen were Rodney James, NP, and Clive Ritchie, Waitara. Future home, Tikorangi.

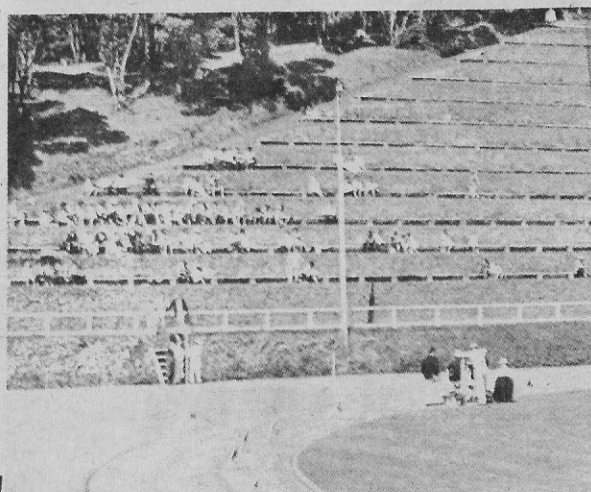

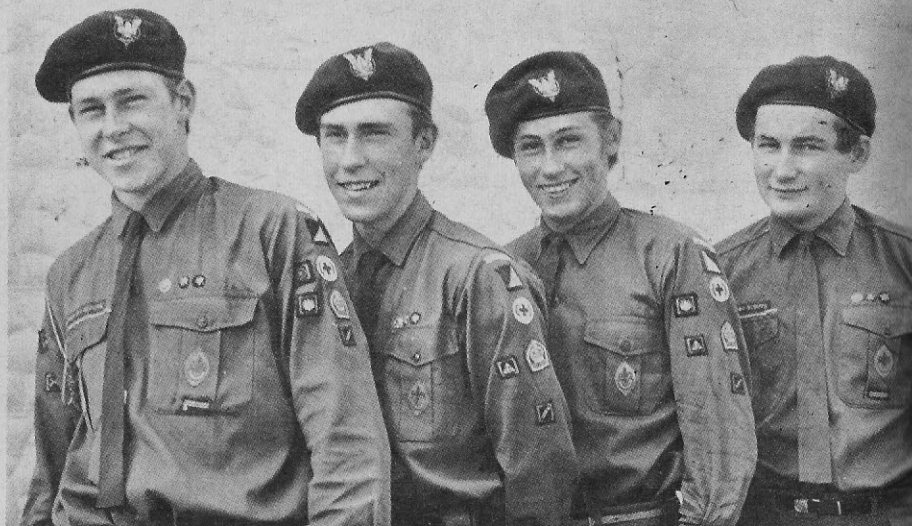

Left: HUNT--HILL. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Sue, younger daughter of Mrs E.D. Hill, NP, to Richard, elder son of Mr and Mrs A.C. Hunt, Hastings. The bridesmaids were Sharon Cleaver, Tarara, and Lynette Page, NP. Best man was Brian White, Hastings, and the groomsmen were Ray Hollamby, Gisborne. The flower-girl was Janice Holdt, NP. Future home, New Plymouth.

YOUTH . . .

We know that it takes all kinds to make a world, and that this applies equally to the youth of the community as it does to the more mature person. Here then are three facets of what we found of the youth of the province. At right are four of today's youth who will undoubtedly make first-class citizens of tomorrow. They are four Waitara Scouts who recently won the Queen's Scout badge. From left they are Bruce Mills, Graeme Alexander, Graham Cowling and Tony Bridgeman. In Waitara, the Scout movement seems to be in a healthy position, but this is not the case with the athletic clubs of the province. At the recent Taranaki AA championships at Pukekura Park, most notable of the programme was the absence of competition AND support from the public. Is this a dying sport? We sincerely hope not, for where else can we build healthy citizens of tomorrow than on the sports field? Are the schools doing their part in encouraging athletics? Are the parents doing their part too? The club's are there to cater for the enthusiastic youngster, yet few take advantage of them...more the pity. Now contrast the empty seats at Pukekura Park with the picture at right. Is this the cause of the lack of interest in athletic sports? We won't comment on this picture, just leave you to decide what to make of it.

MISS BROOKLANDS PAGEANT

The Miss Brooklands Pageant and Presentation at the Bowl attracted nearly 4000 people, though the evening was chilly. It was unsurpassed in sheer spectacle. Each of the previous Miss Brooklands was presented at the show, with many of them arriving on floats as shown here. Above: Judy Phillips came on a float with Joy Michefski singing. Below: Beauties from other parts, Miss Port McQuarrie, Australia, Robyn Stewart, and the Hastings Blossom Queen, Colleen Bishop, arrived on a float accompanied by fireworks. Above, right: Adrienne Bond came on a float representing Madame Butterfly. Right: Anahera Watson was in the Surrey with a Fringe on Top pulled by a sea horse. Below, right: Cushla Collins arrived on a decorated floral float.

The stage presentation of the Miss Brooklands show at the Bowl was a climax of breathtaking spectacle for the 4000 and more people in the audience.

Miss Brooklands 1967 (Miss Nan Taylor) came on stage from the Woodland birthday-cake set with her maids, Sue Orchard and Sandra Luty, and a bevy of tiny ballet dancers, to be received by Miss Brooklands 1966 (Miss Judith Phillips).

With them on stage were eight previous holders of the Miss Brooklands title, plus all of this year's contestants dressed in colourful evening gowns. It made one of the most spectacular sights ever seen at the Bowl.

In this picture Miss Phillips introduces Miss Brooklands 1967 to the crowd before presenting her with the trophy and sash.

JUNE IN JANUARY . . .

Like the old song, June in January, except that ours was in February. We certainly had a taste of winter early enough. It was something to do with the cyclone which hung around the country, bringing the winter conditions which were so specially noticeable on Egmont. It isn't often that we can get a picture of snow like this on the mountain in February.

Televue

Wedding Bells

Left: PATRICK-SEARS. At the Baptist Church, NP, Lois, only daughter of Mr and Mrs R.L. Sears, NP, to Jim, eldest son of Mrs I. Patrick, Dunedin. The bridesmaids were Elaine Wilson, NP, and Jennifer Patrick, sister of the groom, Dunedin. Best man was David Patrick, brother of the groom, Dunedin, and the groomsmen was Cyril Wilden, Dunedin. Future home, Invercargill.

Right: HENDERSON-LANDER. At St. Mary's Church, NP, Elenor, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs R.A. Lander, NP, to Michael, eldest son of Mr and Mrs W.R. Henderson, Motueka. The bridesmaids were Heather Lander, sister of the bride, NP, Pamela Henderson, sister of the groom, Wellington, and Ann Poole, Christchurch. Best man was Andrew Morrison, Wellington. Brothers of the groom, John and David Henderson, Motueka, were the groomsmen. The future home, Wellington.

Left: TROW-COLDWELL. At St. Mary's Church, NP, Raewyn, only daughter of Mrs R.M. Coldwell, NP, and the late Mr W.E. Coldwell, to Claude, younger son of Mr and Mrs H.L. Trow, Tairua. Matron of honour was Christine Baty, NP, and the bridesmaids were Marlene Bennett, NP, and Donna Quinlan, Auckland. Best man was Graeme Trow, brother of the groom, Hamilton, and the groomsmen were Murray Newsome, NP, and Graeme Edgecombe, NP.

CASTLES IN THE SAND

Fitzroy Beach was recently a hive of activity for a nation-wide sand castle building competition, when the Taranaki section was held. The contestants produced some very clever and novel ideas in their models. The winning entry was that of 12-year-old Elizabeth Benefield, Taita, with her model of a mermaid, above. Below: Competitors hard at work during the competition. Right: Model of a lizard by David Smith. Below, right: Fort with a difference, by Graham Spice.

Some of the models at the recent sand castle competition were of a very high standard, and so they need be with a world travel trip as a prize, - it was well worth putting a lot of effort into. Top, left: Here a competitor is hard at work on his Maori whare. Top, right: There was a very long line of children working along the beach. Above, left: Raewyn Prestidge at work on her Christmas cake. Above, right: Second prize in the senior section went to Jillian Wilson for her model of the Richmond Cottage.

PROFESSIONAL FLORISTS MEET

MOTOCROSS A THRILLER

At the New Year Motocross at Beach Road, a crowd of many thousands witnessed some very spectacular racing over one of the most difficult circuits in the country. Competing were riders of international reputation, providing the crowd with a thrill a minute. Above: The American rider Paul Hunt in action. Below: Graham Terry, Palmerston North, makes a one-point landing. Above, right: Hunt nosedives his Triumph machine. Below, right: Big John Burton comes down over the bottom bumps.

Below: HARVIE-TRIM. Rosemary, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs R.F. Trim, Eltham, to Graeme, younger son of Mr and Mrs R.M. Harvie, Hawera. (DAVID PAUL STUDIOS).

WHOSE FACE IS THIS?

If the owner of the face that is ringed can identify himself at our office, he'll get a free year's subscription to "Photo News" valued at 38/-. Last month's winners were Mrs H. Hardgrave, 138, Lemon Street, NP, and Mrs O. Bayliss, 291, South Road, Hawera.

Coming of Age

Wedding Bells

Left: FADDY-WHEELER. At St. Chad's Church, Westown, Suzanne, only daughter of Mr and Mrs H. L. Wheeler, NP, to Bruce, son of Mrs C. J. Faddy, Sydney. The bridesmaid was Sheila O'Toole, Auckland, the best man was Albert Larsen, Auckland, and the flower-girl was Shelly Grimmer, Auckland. Future home will be in Auckland.

Right: HISLOP-GILMOUR. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs I. G. Gilmour, NP, to Kenneth only son of Mr and Mrs W. Hislop, Otago. The bridesmaids were Barbara and Ngaire Gilmour, sisters of the bride, NP. Best man was Andrew Wrighton, Mosgiel, and the groomsman was Donald Hancock, NP. Future home, Adelaide, Australia.

Left: JAGO-CRONIN. At St Andrew's Presbyterian Church, NP, Ruth, second daughter of Mrs D. M. Cronin, NP, to David Thomas, twin son of Mr and Mrs L. C. Jago, Stratford. The bridesmaids were Pru Gifford, Waitara, and Lila Marton, NP. Best man was John Jago, twin brother of the groom, Stratford, and the groomsman was David Haycock, Rotorua. Future home, Hamilton.

SPEEDWAY

Despite the fact that the crowds are somewhat smaller than in the past, it is a credit to the club that they keep up such a high standard of racing in their weekly programmes. It would seem that the accent is on motor bikes these days, and most of them are riders of a very high standard, such as those pictured above, from left: Ash King, Bryce Subritsky and Graeme Coombes. Right: Up-and-coming NP youth Phil Stokes takes a fall. Below: A fast-dying spectacle, the mid-get cars. Bottom, left: Jim Allen, Waitara, who is proving himself a capable sidecar racer. Bottom, right: Graeme Coombes, NP, is perhaps the top rider on the speedway.

SUCCESSFUL WAITARA CARNIVAL

On New Year's Day at Waitara, about eight thousand people attended the very successful carnival alongside the river. It was a fine and sunny day, with the holiday spirit prevailing.

Above: Winner of the raft river race, Kevin Smith, is introduced to the Miss Taranaki Holiday Resorts contestants by the carnival organiser, Laurie Petty. Kevin was shy at first, but this state of affairs didn't last too long.

Below: Being towed back to the carnival area is the raft raced by Kevin Smith.

Right: After many days on a raft anchored in the middle of the Waitara river, Tony King was provided with a rocking chair when he finally came ashore.

Above: After many days rocking on his raft in the Waitara river, Clarrie Manson finally comes ashore. Below: Tony King looked just as delighted to be bound for terra firma. Above, right: The children's pet parade was one of the best-supported events at the carnival. Right: First and second place in the pets' contest went to Murray Brooks, Stratford, and Jeanette Innes, Waitara. Below, right: The donkeys were perhaps the hardest worked at the carnival. Riding them are Carol Buchan, Sally Conquest and Rino Campus.

The NP Old Folks' Association recently honoured their only centenarian, John Paul Every. Ex-bank manager John is the youngest-looking 100-year-old we have ever seen. The only conclusion we can draw is that John must have spent a very righteous and clean life. Born in Dunedin, John came to Taranaki in 1951, and has been a very active member of the OFA since he first arrived here. Above: Mayor A. G. Honnor was one of the civic guests at the party. Right: A 15-minute speech of thanks from John included many reminiscences. Below, right: Mr A. P. Aderman presented John with a life membership certificate of the OFA. ## AUSTRALIAN SURFERS COMPETE AGAINST TARANAKI

The cream of Australian surfers were recently on a visit to the province, and engaged in a surfing duel with the local Taranaki team. Some good surfing was witnessed, and the local boys performed well against this international class competition. Above: The Taranaki six-man team. From left: Bobbie Johns, Murray Boulter, Ron Wildermath, Denny Parker, Brian Velvin and Trevor Corkin. Above, right: This was the Australian team. Right: The Aussies bring their patient up the beach. A bevy of Auckland beauties rests on Takapuna beach after a session of "frisbee flying".

Frisbees are plastic dishes which perform all manner of gyrations when tossed in the air. They have become the biggest novelty craze since the hula hoop.

home preserving

New Zealand housewives are the world's champion home bottlers, on a population basis. They put down about 20 million jars of preserved food each year. And right now, with fruits and vegetables plentiful and relatively cheap, home bottlers are approaching the peak of their activity.

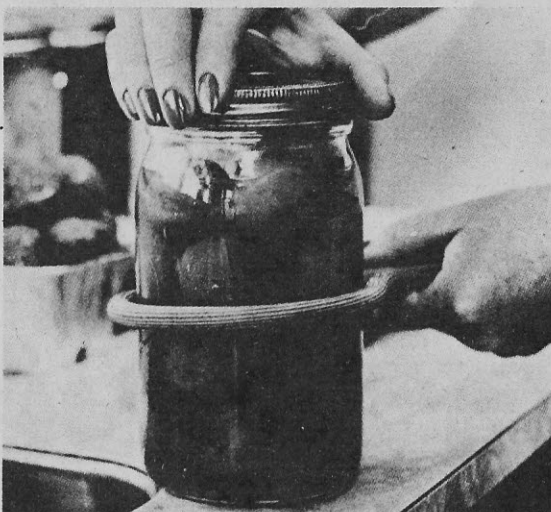

The young housewife, with little or no previous bottling experience, need not feel nervous about joining the throng. Home bottling is safe and simple, provided a few straightforward rules are followed:

Remember that all vegetables except tomatoes, and all meats, are non-acid foods and must be preserved by processing the sealed jars in a boiling waterbath or in a pressure cooker.

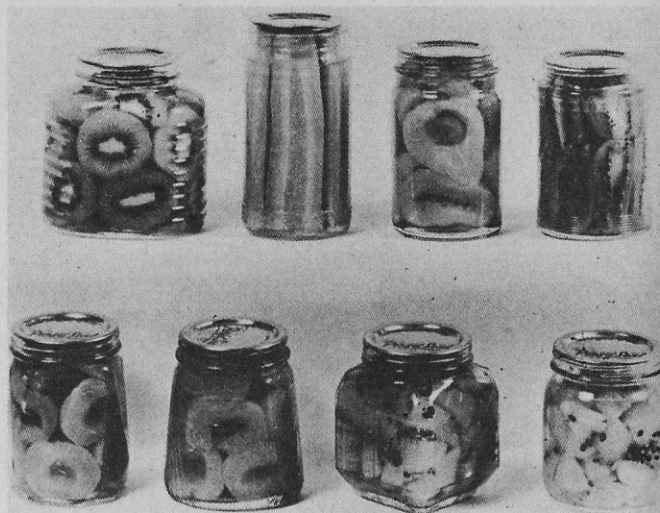

Never taste preserved non-acid foods until they have been further cooked after removal from the jars.

Although fruits can be bottled by the "overflow" method (in which the jars require no processing), there are advantages in preserving fruits by the waterbath system, because they will hold their shape better.

A final point: A wide range of grocery lines are now being marketed in screw-top jars (coffee and honey, for example) which can be adapted for home bottling with the recent introduction of the smaller "G" seals specially designed to fit those jars. It's a sensible way of making use of the jars, and cuts costs in your home preserving.

Use of a jar-holder like this helps to prevent scalding, and breakages, during home-bottling.

Here are some of the regular food containers which can now be used as preserving jars with the introduction of the smaller "G" seals.

Auckland housewife Rae Kerr lowers four jars into her waterbath. This method, or the pressure-cooker system, must be used for vegetables and meats, and with fruits helps to retain shape and texture.

Placing plums in a jar during bottling. Plums can be preserved by waterbath, pressure-cooker, or overflow methods. The recipes:

PLUMS (overflow)

Select plums which are not too ripe, wash and stem. Prick them with a needle to prevent bursting. Boil them for 15 minutes in a medium or heavy syrup, then pack boiling hot into sterilised jars and seal.

PLUMS (cold pack)

Prepare as for overflow, but without pre-cooking. Pack the plums into clean jars and fill to within half an inch of the top with medium or heavy syrup. Seal the jars with Perfit seals and process them for 20 minutes in a boiling waterbath, or for six minutes in a pressure-cooker at 5lbs pressure.

Right: Mrs Betty Hamlin, of Te Atatu, with three jars of shellfish she has preserved. The method: Precook by steaming for 10 minutes, add lemon juice to taste and pack into hot jars, adding half a teaspoon of salt to each pint. Cover shellfish with their own liquid, or boiling water and process for 90 min in pressure-cooker at 10lbs pressure, or for four hours in a boiling waterbath.

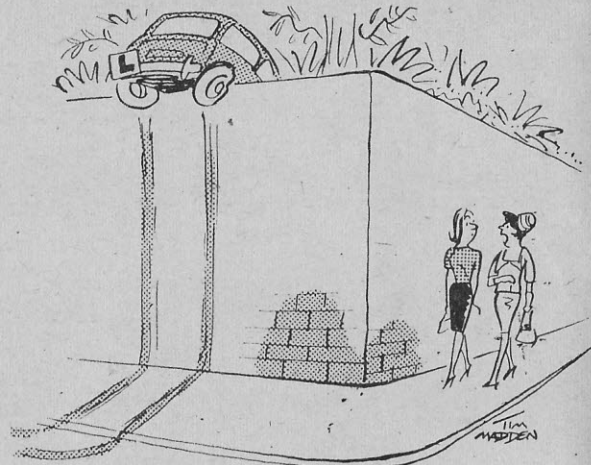

Good equipment makes home bottling simpler, and safer. Here Rae Kerr uses tongs to remove jars from the waterbath.

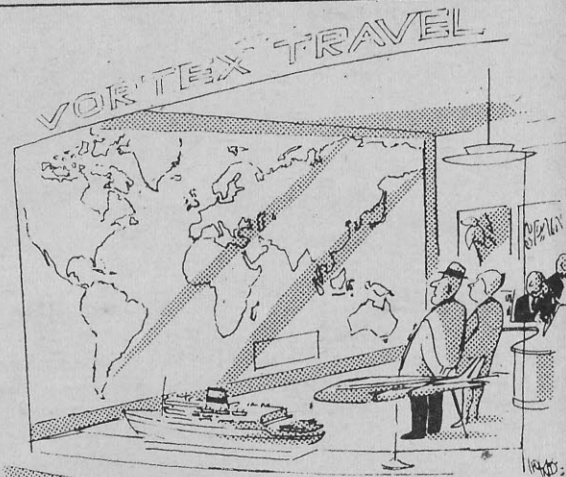

"It doesn't seem any time ago I was too young for boys—now I'm too old for them."

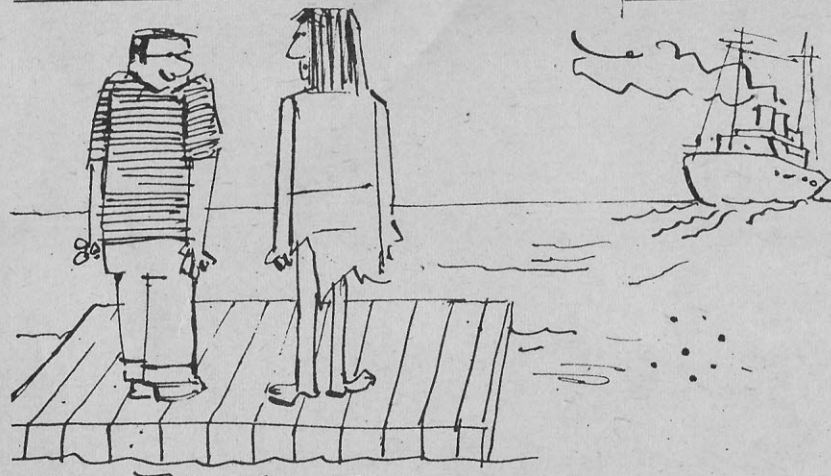

"It's her twentieth driving test today—she must drive those instructors up the wall!"

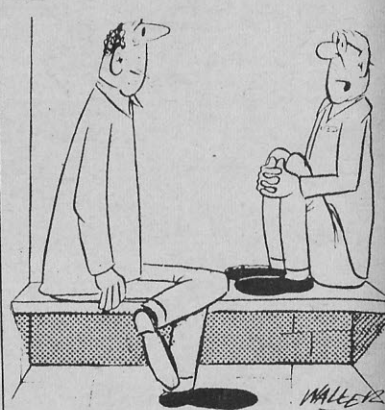

"Don't worry . . . I'll have the combination in a minute, and we'll get you out of there . . ."

"I don't see anything I fancy."

"I thought you said it was sinking!"

"The plates and ink were perfect, but the fiver I used as a model turned out to be counterfeit!"

Very Happily Married

Among New Zealand's growing band of stage celebrities, a wedding is something to sing about, and the hi jinks are often something to remember. Not so for the Tunespinners (Geoff Crocker and Anita Brown). When they decided that one duet was better than two solos, they had a very quiet wedding at Mamurewa, with only 20 close friends and relatives present.

But when Geoff and Anita sang at the reception, Lou (of Lou and Simon) was on hand to shower the happy couple with traditional confetti.

"Happy Birthday, Dear Audrey". So sang the cast and crew of Stanley Donen's "Two For The Road" on location in the South of France. The 40lb cake is decorated with the titles of pictures the director and the star have made together, including "Funny Face" and "Charade". # MOTORING WITH ROBBIE

If your car is fitted with generator and oil pressure indicator lights, check the lamp bulbs by noting whether they light when you switch on the ignition. If one should fail to light, you'll know that either the bulb or the sender unit is not working.

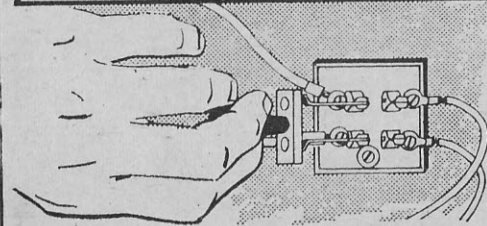

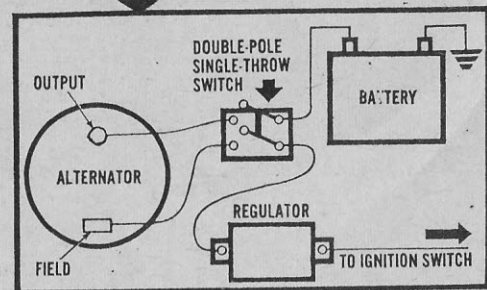

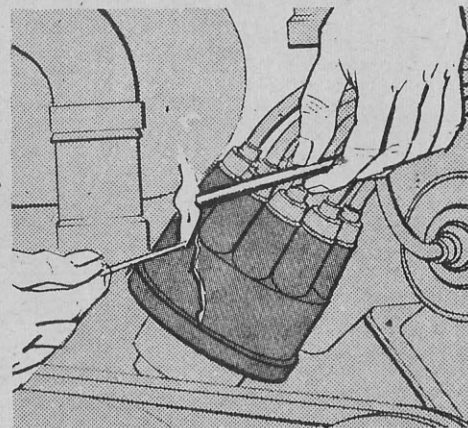

If you are having trouble with hard starting or a low charging rate, disconnect the high tension wire from the coil so that the engine won't start and get someone to press the starter switch while you listen carefully at the battery. If there is a sizzling noise, corrosion is causing a bad contact. Cure is to clean the terminal and clamp and tighten securely. If smoke appears from one of the cells it's a bad sign. A battery doctor could replace the cell but usually replacement of the whole battery is best.

YOU can cover worn interior panels - especially those under the dash - with pieces of embossed aluminium. Just lever off the old panel and using it as a pattern, cut the aluminium to fit, but allow enough extra on all sides to bend over the old panel.

YOU can prevent damage to the alternator on your car by fitting an on-off switch to disconnect the battery from the alternator and the voltage regulator. When recharging the battery, open the switch to save the rectifier diodes.

A CRACKED or burned distributor cap can be repaired with sealing wax until a replacement can be obtained. Hold the wax so that it can drip into the damaged area and melt it with the flame from a match. But make sure the surface of the cap is clean and dry before you apply the wax.

In a real emergency you can use water instead of brake fluid in the hydraulic braking system but make sure the system is drained and thoroughly flushed out as soon as possible afterwards.

13,000 AT URENUI CARNIVAL

Yet another successful carnival for organiser Laurie Petty. By midday, cars queuing for the carnival stretched for over a mile. Don't know how he does it, but Laurie can certainly pack them in. ## TARANAKI GUIDES IN CAMP

There aren't many people who can claim to have had rainless holiday weather, and the Guides of the province were no exception. During their big camp of over 150 girls at Hillsborough the weather was not at all kind, and many of their holidays were spoiled by liquid sunshine. One day at least did dawn fine, and that was the first Sunday, when the pictures on this page were taken. The girls attended a church service in the open. Above: Small choir and camp leaders at the service. Below: Some of the girls at the service. Bottom: Here they arrive for their church service, walking through the bush to their improvised church.

HANGI FOR GUIDES

Highlight of the Guide camp at Hillsborough was the hangi. From early in the morning the girls were busy collecting wood for the fire and helping prepare what was a feast to them. They not only had a good feed, but they learned a lot about Maori cooking from Mesdames E. and M. Taylor who spent the day with the girls. Above: Mesdames Taylor prepare the pit for the fire. Below: Mrs E. Taylor chops the wood to the required size. Above, right: There were many helpers to stack the stones on the fire. Right: Mrs M. Taylor lights the fire. Below, right: Spud-bashing fatigue squad were Ann Clyma, Susan Grey, Christine Blackburn and Bronwym Hollis.

Above, right: Janet Weir makes a thorough inspection of the cabbages before they go into the hangi. Below, left: Raewyn Burmester and Marlene Doherty helped with the vegetables too. Below, centre: Yvonne Hovius returns with an armful of wood for the fire. Below, right: Ann Curdie has a turn with the pois while waiting for the hangi to be opened.

POPULAR SUMMER BEACH

Of the many beaches in the province, Wai-iti is perhaps the most popular. With a fine broad expanse of clean sand, plenty of rock pools for the children and a good store right at the entrance to the beach, it's no wonder that any fine weekend will see a goodly share of sun worshippers. The beach is also renowned for its surf fishing, and we are told that if the right bait is used then the fish will literally give themselves up. Above: Scene of the beach looking southwards, and on a clear day, a fine view of the mountain is obtained. Below: View of the beach looking northwards. ## BREAKING BRONKS AT STRATFORD

There was plenty of excitement at the recent Rodeo at Stratford, with people hopping back from the fence every now and again as either crazed steers or horses careered round the arena, with some of the broncos a bit docile. But none were quite as unfriendly as the little pony photographed on this page. He was brought out into the ring, saddled, and a cowboy was to break him in. It turned out that the pony was having none of it, and quickly unseated his rider. Above, left: Here the handlers had trouble in saddling this pocket-sized piece of dynamite. Above, right: The rider got on alright, but had the roughest ride of any, and within about five seconds was unseated, below, left. Not content with unseating his rider, the pony then made a rush at the fence and nearly climbed it too, as is shown, below, right.

OPEN TOURNAMENT

Once again the Taranaki Bowling Centre's annual open tournament attracted a record number of teams. Not only are there plenty of competitors, but the interest shown by spectators is equal to that in the national tournaments. This year's final, played at Paritutu, was between Bill Greenbury's Mt. Albert team and Doug Rowland's Paritutu four, with Greenbury taking the honours with more consistent team play. Above: Bill receives the congratulations of Mrs J.J. Goodwin after the tournament. Above, right: Mrs Billing presented the trophies, and here Doug Rowlands receives his runner-up prize. Right: The Coca-Cola hats came in handy for some of the spectators. Below: Part of the crowd of 1200 which witnessed the interesting final

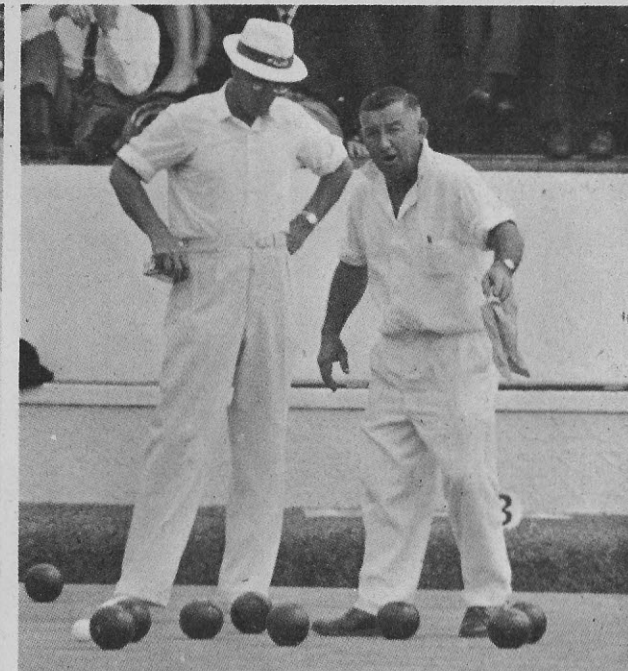

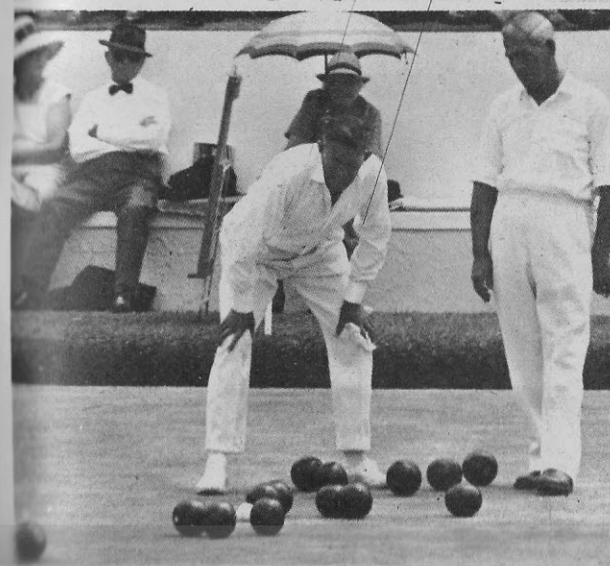

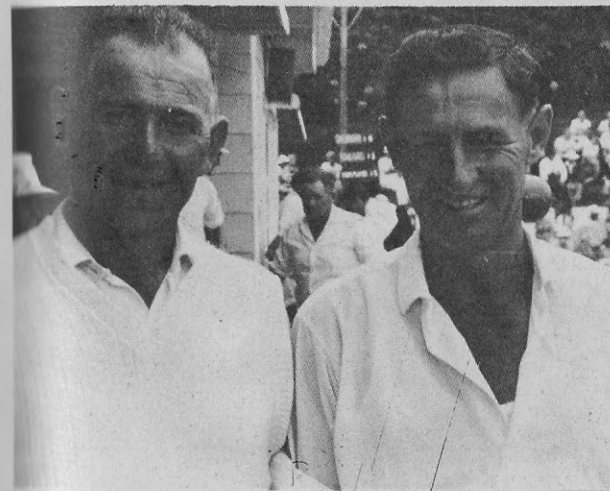

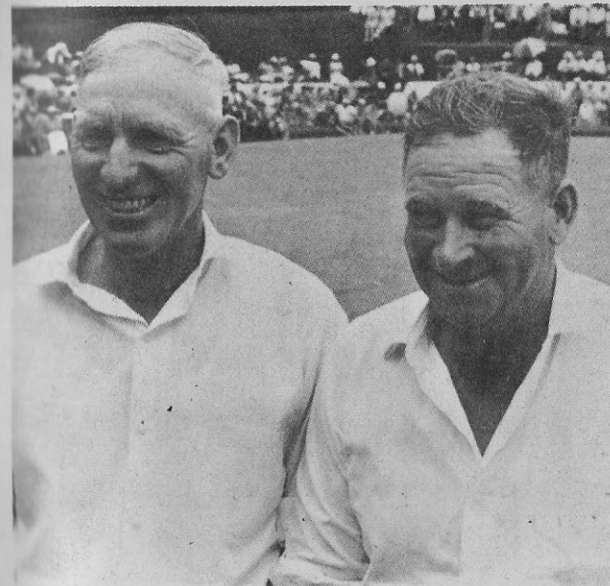

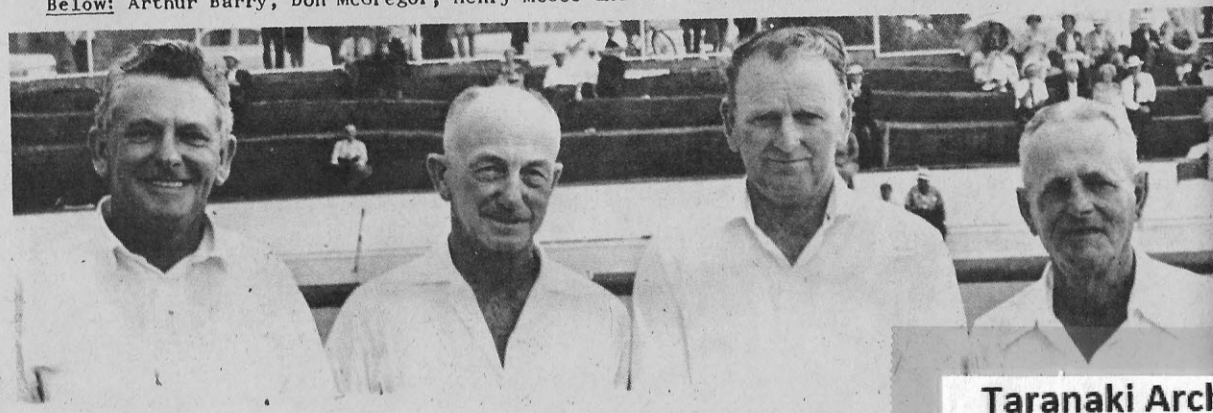

Winners of the tournament: V.Hart, A.Woodhall, Bunny Burrows, and Bill Greenbury (skip), Mt.Albert.

TARANAKI AA CHAMPS

It just about breaks our old hearts to see such a poor attendance, both of spectators and competitors alike for the recent AA championships at Pukekura Park. But, despite the lack of competition, those taking part pushed themselves to breaking point in trying to record good times.

Miss Taranaki Holiday Resorts

The New Year carnival at Waitara provided the winners of the Miss Taranaki Holiday Resorts winner. Here are the three placegetters in the contest. The winner, Christine Bone, NP, is in the centre, furthest from the camera is the second placegetter Lynette Macdonald, Wellington, and nearest camera is the third, Carolyn Satler, Hawera.

Miss North Taranaki

The Urenui beach carnival provided us with the winners of the Miss North Taranaki Beauty Contest. Here they are shown on the dais after the judges had announced their verdict. From left: Lee Thomas, NP, who took the major prize, Faye Milham, Hawera, a close runner-up and Raewyn Aspinall, Stratford, who finished third in the contest.
